LO: Feelings chart

Earlier on in the lockdown, there was a lesson where you had to create a feelings chart about the boy and the fox.

I'd like you to do this again for Scott's expedition. Consider carefully how he would have felt at each point and how those feelings would have changed. Think about all of the different stages before you begin.

There is a template on the following page. You can copy this, just using the numbers for the x axis (you don't need to draw the pictures).

1. Set off from Cardiff to Antarctica
2. Arrive at South Pole – problems with equipment and ponies
3. Set off with dogs and sleds
4. Dogs turn back
5. Arrive at South Pole
6. Realise the Norwegians have beaten them
7. Turn back round to go to camp
8. Very cold and hungry, Oates dies
9. Scott writes letter to wife, knowing that he and the others will die soon.
